

University of Arizona's Santa Rita Experimental Range

- Established in 1902 and is considered the oldest experimental range in the U.S.
- Provides a unique scientific resource with an archive of repeat photos
- Consists of more than 80 square miles of grazed and ungrazed rangeland leased from the Arizona State Land Department